Compliance status

The website of the Huszita House is partially compliant with Act LXXV of 2018 due to the non-accessible content listed below.

The content listed below is not accessible for the following reasons:

a) Non-compliance with accessibility legislation

- Some decorative images are not hidden from assistive technologies such as screen readers.
- Certain videos published on the website do not contain captions and/or do not provide audio description or a full text transcript.
- Some documents available for download are not accessible.
- The website may contain PDF documents, mainly from external sources, that do not meet accessibility requirements.

b) Disproportionate burden

The City Library is committed to gradually reducing the number of non-accessible documents by archiving outdated content and by creating and publishing new PDF documents that already comply with accessibility requirements.

Accessible alternatives

Where technically feasible, and upon individual request, the City Library will provide an accessible PDF version of the requested content within 15 days from receipt of the request. The accessible document will be sent directly to the user and the non-accessible version published on the website will be replaced.
